New Method Adopted in Making the Monthly Statements.

Washington, April 1.—The decrease of the public debt for the month of March amounts to $483,000. There is a delay in the preparation of the statement, and it has not, at this hour 7 p. m., been made public. Two statements will be issued, one in the usual form, and another in the form suggested by C. N. Jordan, of New York. The latter form will show the reduction in the amount of cash in the treasury as made un from the following. in the treasury as made up from the following accounts: gold and silver certificates, United States notes held for certificates of deposit under the act of June 8, 1872. The following accounts are represented as unavailable:

Appended to the debt statement is a table bearing the caption "Reconcillation," which explains the differences between the old and new methods of stating the debt. By the new form the statement of the debt is increased April 1 by the items of the Pacific railroad and interest thereon $65,631,204.68, and decreased by gold and silver cartificates and certificates of deposit, all in cash, $69,556,605. tificates of deposit, all in cash, $59,556,605. The total debt, new form, is stated at $1,885,988,376.18 on April first. By the old form the debt, less cash in the treasury April first, is stated at $1,405,439,602.20 and March first $1,405,023,350.18, showing a decrease of the debt during March of $48,374,798. By the new form the debt, less cash in the treasury Aprifirst, is stated at $1,502,579,184.62 and March first$1,502,489,928.44, making an increase in the debt for March of $8,925,618. The item of cash in the treasury in the new form is stated at $383,409,191.56. It is understood that the future debt statements will be upon the new form.

SYCOPHANTS OF THE NAVY.

How Little Billy Chandler Made Lackeys of

Aspiring Lieutenants. WASHINGTON, April 1.—Secretary Whitney is an object of great concern to a number of the naval officers. He has not indicated his. the naval officers. He has not indicated his line of policy enough for them to judge just how he is going to manage the navy department. There are a great number of cliques among the officers. Each clique has been anxious to secure control of the secretary. In the past it has been the custom of the head of the navy department to pick out the most flexible and cringing of the officers and make them special companions and advisers. There are among the navy officers those who can be made to follow any whim or fancy of the secretary. These officers are comparatively few, but through their agility in pushing themselves to the front they give a bad character to the rest. For instance, there was no job of Chandler's pushed through when he was secretary for which he could not secure the approval of some subservient board. the approval of some subservient board. There are one or two officers who are known to-day in the service as Chandler's lackeys. When Chandler began to detail officers to attend his wife's receptions for the purpose of making presentations to her there was a general revolt. Every officer who declined to obey the order was promptly punished. One officer who went further than all the rest in subserviency to Chandler was a young lieutenent who is very ambitious to have good sssignments. He was one of Mrs. Chandler's most devoted servants. He rebelled at nothing until one day Mrs. Chandler asked him, during a call he was making on her, to go own town and have a prescription made for one of her children, who happened to be sick. If it had been earlier in the Chandler reign he would have undoubtedly gone. But as it was within a few days of the retirement of Chandler, he politely declined to perform the errand. His knocking off from messenger-boy duty with so much firmness and decision, is now held up by his friends as the positive is now held up by his friends as the positive proof of his great independence of character. He is as subservant now to Mr. Whitney as he was to Chandler. The new secretary, however, employs his own messenger boys and lackeys, and has very little use for the flexible kneed young men who have been crowding attentions upon him within the last tew weeks.

Speaker Haines Discharges All the Legislative Employes.

Springfield, Ill., April 1.—The house this morning was in an uproar. After the reading of the minutes Speaker Haines arose and explained that there had been dissatisfaction regarding the employes of the house. He had come to the conclusion that the best thing he could do would be to dismiss all those who had been appointed by him, and he did so. This announcement fell like a bombshell among the employes, and consternation reigned. the employes, and consternation reigned supreme amonst them.

Mr. Keyes offered a resolution declaring that the speaker had no right to discharge the employes. The whole subject was tabled. Mr. West offered a resolution citing that the speaker and Representative Miller had placed the stock yards bill with the committee on corporations, thereby perpetrating an indignity on the house, and that both gentlemen should be reprimended. It was further despended. should be reprimended. It was further de-clered that the speaker was an unsafe person to conduct the affairs of the house, and should be deposed.

Before discussion was possible the senate was announced. In the joint session only one ballot was taken for United States senator. Two votes were cast, one for Logan and one for Merritt.

—The Events of the Day, Etc.

New York, April 1:-At 5 o'clock this morning Harrison, General Grant's valet, drove in haste for Rev. Dr. Newman, and Dr. Shrady by call hurried to the general's residence. Dr. Newman says that General Grant's condition is serious, and that it is believed the worst is near. Dr. Newman and Senator Chaffee arrived at General Grant's residence at 5:50 a.m. At 6:05 the servant went to a drug store for medicine for Mrs. Grant, who had become nervous. U. S. Grant, Jr., arrived at the house at 6:10, and his wife, who is at the St. Cloud hotel, was sent for at 6:25.

10 a.m.-Authentic information at this hour is to the effect that General Grant is failing fast, and that it is only a question of a few hours until the end is reached. He is gradually sinking, but is not suffering pain. DR. NEWMAN INTERCEPTED.

At 9:45 o'clock this morning, Rev. Dr. Newman left General Grant's house. He was met by several reporters, and said:

"The general solemnly realizes the fact of his prolonged sufferings, but the strength of his intellect and the calmness of his mind are won derful."

A visitor who left the house at 10 o'clock said that the general had rallied, and was conscious and composed.

At 0 o'clock ex-Senator Chaffee left General Grant. He says that the general is growing

At 11:30 a.m. it was stated that Grant was sitting up and feeling better. The consultation takes place at 2 p.m.

General Badeau's Statement.

At 12 25 p. m. General Badeau left General Grant's boxes.

Grant's house to send a private message from the telegraph office. While there he said that General Grant was very low and was sinking rapidly; that he may die in an hour, and may live three or four days. "The general," said he, "is sitting up all the time except at long intervals, when he lies down for a little time. He is surrounded by cept at long intervals, when he lies down for a little time. He is surrounded by all the members of his family and the doctors in attendance." General Badeau telegraphs to Colonel Payne at Washington, to the effect that a consultation of the physicians of General Grant this afternoon, it was doubtful if his throat was in a condition to be examined, but that if it should be in condition it was doubtful if any good result would follow, because the disease of the throat is regarded as beyond the control of the physician.

At 2:45 Ganeral Grant was visited by Drs.
Barker, Sands, Shrady and Douglas. His condition is an improvement upon that of the night. He has no pain in swallowing; takes his light food as usual, and is free from the accumulation of the secretor in the nostrilalation of the secretion in the nostrils; has had no attack of choking and no return of the weakness. His pulse is still quite feeble, and his vitality is considerably impaired. He has not been unconscious at any 5 p. m.— General Grant is still comfortable.

No special change reported.
General Frederick Dent came out of General

Grant's house at 5:45 p.m. He said that the general was much worse than the physicians cared to say. The following bulletin was issued at 6 p. m:

"General Grant bears up nobly. Within the less half hour he has coughed considerably on account of the accumulated secretion. He suffers some pain in his throat, which has been somewhat relieved by gargles."

At 7:15 p. m. General Grant was very low, and believed to be sinking.

At 8:30 p. m., General Grant is resting in bed. He has taken his usual nourishment without inconvenience. The pain in his throat and his cough are relieved. His general condition is encouraging.

At 9 o'clock, four detectives from the police headquarters were patrolling in the vicinity of the Grant mansion. The windows of the general's bedroom are being opened every now and then, as though to give the patient air. It is said that General Dent, the invalid's brother-in-law, has been sent for.

The universal feeling of sorrow that the general should be passing away is seen in the numerous condolatory telegrams received every day. Most of them are from persons in the south, who have heretofore been accustomed to couple the name of Grant and "the Yankee general" together. General Fitz Hugh Lee, the nephew of the southern leader, Robert E. Lee, sent a telegram saying that the heart of the south was throbbing like the northern pulse, and that the prayers of all were for his recovery.

Sullivan and McCaffrey on next Thurs-day night. A call was issued for a meeting of day night. A call was issued for a meeting of the Methodist ministers of the city, and it was largely attended. A resolution was adopted condemning prize fights and prize fighters in general, and also one calling attention to the proposed fight for Thursday night.

A committee was appointed to present the resolution to Mayor Smith and urge him to do all in his power to stop the fight. Tite delegation accordingly called upon the mayor. After the resolution had been read, the mayor said:

JAMES GORDON BENNETT SUED. A Hitherto Suppressed Scandal Likely to be Fully Ventilated in the Courts.

New York, April 1.—A great scandal has cropped out in the Brooklyn circuit court in the case of Justine Pedstrom against Edward Van Ness. Plaintiff, who is a Swede, was housekeeper for James, Gordon Bennett, and some time ago she sued him to recover $25,000 damsges for an alleged assault. An answer was put in denying the allegations. A motion was made by defendant's counsel 'and consented to by the plaintiff's attorney that the cause be tried before a referee. Judge Robinson referred the cause to Lawyer A. Melvine Knapp. After hearing the testimony the referee dismissed the complaint. An action in equity was then brought by Lawyer Edward Van Ness, on behalf of Miss Pedstrom, to set aside the finding of the referee and to vacate the order of reference on the ground of conspiracy and fraud between the lawyers on both sides. The plaintiff procured a judgment, the order of reference was set aside, and the cause restored to the calendar of the court of common pleas. Before it came to trial some time ago she sued him to recover $25,000 Now he is quiet, resting in his chair. His throat has been cleared, and the relief mentioned at 8 p. m., has continued since. A Grand Demonstration in Honor of the Oranosilor's Natal Day—The Prospect of Peace in Afghan-istan—The Prench Complications—An April Fool Proclamation in Iroland.

Berlin, April 1.—This being the seventieth anniversary of the birthday of Prince Bismarek, the day is being celebrated throughout the empire as a holiday of extraordinary interest. The emperor and his son, the Crown Prince Frederick William, attended by all the resident princes of the imperial family, called upon the chancellor at 10 o'clock in the morning, and congratulated him. The kaiser was especially warm and earnest in his expressions of regard. During the visit, the emperor personally presented a wonderful oil copy of the great portrait of himself to Prince Bismarck as personal memento.

This gift was followed by another mark of imperial favor. The emperor himself decorated Count Herbert Bismarck, son of the chancellor, with the order of the red eagle. The imperial visitors spent most of the remainder of the morning at the chancellor's residence. After their departure the federal councillors and ministers called and presented their congratulations. The Bismarck birthday testimonial committee subsequently visited the chancellor, and formally presented him with the title deeds of the great Schoenhausen estate. The entire afternoon was taken up by the delegations which had come to present testimonials from all classes of German people testimonials from all classes of German people and from all parts of the empire.

Rumor has it that Russian generals of high rank, who have quietly arrived here, bear for the ezar a signal favor to Prince Bismarck in honor of his birthday. The birthday festivals and torchlight processions occurred last evening in all the large towns of the empire. In the cities of Munich, Cologne, Carlsrahe, Kissingen and Breslan these demonstrations were particularly his gnificent. At Gratz, in Austria, the prohibition of the authorities against any public demonstration in honor of the ceasion was rescinded, and the German residents ale-brated it enthusiastically with processions and fireworks.

All the newspapers publish warm tributes to the worth and genius of Bismarck. The opposition papers praise the chancellor's efforts during the present and recent years to maintain peace among the nations and to fulfill his duty to the emperor and the German nation.

THE FRENCH PROBLEM.

French Disaster.

Paris, April 1.—General Briere de L'Isle telegraphs from Hanoi, under date of yesterday:

"After a fresh encounter with the enemy at Dong Dang yesterday evening, General Herbinger continued his retreat in good order along the Kep and Deo Quam routes. General Negrier's condition is favorable. After seeing him I hope to rejoin the second brigade, in delense of the rivers."

M. Defreycinet has resumed his task of forming a new French ministry. He expects to conclude the work to-morrow. It is now stated that M. De Freycinet will act as minister of the interior in the new cabinet, and that ter of the interior in the new cabinet, and that the post of minister of foreign affairs, which had been occupied by M. Jules Ferry, will be filled by the present French ambassador to Germany, Baron De Courcel.

The war office has received a dispatch from General de L'Isle, commander of the French forces in Tonquin, stating that the Chinese troops in large numbers are continually har-rassing the French troops in their retreat rassing the French troops in their retreat from Lang sou.

The majority against Ferry consisted of 220 republicans and 86 reactionaries. The minority was made up mostly of opportunists. Great opposition is manifested against any of Ferry's opposition is manifested against any of Ferry's ministry taking office in the new cabinet. Freycinet's task is a difficult one:

A dispatch dated Hanoi, this morning, states that the situation of the French army there, is critical. A large Chinese force under European leaders, the dispatch says, is endeavoring to cut off the French retreat. General Negrier has arrived at Hanoi. He is making good progress towards recovering from his wound.

Russia Accepts the Main Part of England's Proposition.

London, April 1.—The Pall Mail Gazetto, this afternoon states that the Russian answer to England's preposals on the Afghan question amounts to a cordial acceptance of the proposals as made by Earl Granville, British foreign minister. The only point to be discussed is the Russian suggestion that it would be more practical if the zone of the survey overlapped the roughly defined zone of the debatable land, in order to allow for topographical and ethnographical conditions. It is not expected that this suggested extension of the zone of the sarvey will be agreed to, as it would carry the zone to the south of the boundary line run by M. Lessar, Russian commissioner, to arrange the Afghan boundary. The dispute may yet prove serious enough, the Pall Mall Gazette thinks, to a suse further difficulty.

The government has engaged a dozen of the finest available steamers as transports for at least six months, at rates varying from 20 to 30 shillings per ton, when in service, with the option of docking them at lower rates. It is reported that the military council at St. Petersburg advised the Russian government against undertaking war until a railway has been completed to Sarakhs.

The earl of Roseberry, in a speech at Manchester, this evening, said it was not the object of the government to patch up a temporary truce with Russia, but to arrange a permanent modus vivendi between the two nations, in regard to their rights in Central Asia. Without this lasting peace would be impossible. The action of the colonies in offering assistance was referred to by the speaker as the most cheering feature of the controversy.

The Turkish Minister of Finance in a Sad Plight.

Constantingelm, April 1.—The government is in arrears to the soldiers for several month's pay and to-day the wives of the soldiers attempted to secure attention to their husband's demands by appearing in force at the office of the minister of finance. Bands of women appeared at an early hour in the street. These collected to the number of two thousand or more at a point near the building occupied by the cabinet officials. At an appointed hour they misrched in a body to the office of the minister of finance. Pushing past the guards they entered the office, and confronting the minister, demanded the pay due their husbands. Policemen were called in, and tried to expel them, but the women turntheir husbands. Policemen were called in, and tried to expel them, but the women turned on the officers, and forced them to retire. The finance minister made a plausible excuse for delay in paying the men. The women declare his answer unsatisfactory, and made a rush for him. He, however, escaped by jumping out of the back window.

Vander-veer, a wealthy farmer, belonging to one of the oldest families in south Jersey, had a protty blonde daughter, Anna, aged, he says 14, but looking 18, and a 23-year-old Irish-American farm hand, James McCormick. The term for which the latter had been bound to Vanderveer exbeen bound to Vanderveer ex-pired on Saturday, and he received $70 wages due him. On Sunday evening Anna said she did not care to go to church with the rest of the family, and after they had gone she pack-ed her clothing and trinkets in a trunk, and before church was out she had driven off with McCormici in a wagon which he had in wait-ing.

Upon retiring to their room Mr. McCormick blew out the gas, and when the other occupants of the hotel discovered the fact the pair were nearly smothered. They did not fully recover until this afternoon.

The girl's parents were unable to account for her absence until this morning, when a neighbor informed them of the elopement. Her cousin Archibald was sent in pursuit. He arrived in this city at the hour when the ceremony was being performed at the rectory. The police soon discovered the couple and took them into custody. McCormick was held for violating the law prohibiting marriage with a girl under fourteen, the penalty for which may be imprisonment for five years and $5,000 fine. In default of bail he was committed to the county jail. The girl refused to return with her cousin, and fiercely declared that if McCormick was sent to prison she would do something to be sent theretoo.

THE TRIAL OF FISH. He Makes Some Bevelations Concerning

Bank Examiner Meigs.

New York, April 1.—At the trial of exPresident Fish, of the Marine bank to-day, Fish testified that some two years ago, when Bank Examiner Meigs came to the bank, he found two loans of the Eric railway company largely in excess of the statuary $49,000. He called Fish's attention to the matter, and asked for an explanation. Fish told him that the Eric company was a large dealer with the bank and a good customer, and he liked to oblige them. Meigs then suggested that the loans in excess of the $49,000 should be put in the names of the directors of the bank, or other persons, and thus appearances would be maintained. When the witness put the loans referred to in the names of different parties, he had no intention of defrauding the bank or of deceiving the bank examiner, or the bank directors.

om He Had Killed by Mastake, Taking Him for a Party Against Whom He Had a Grudge - A Terrible Fight.

ELLIJAY, Ga., April 1 .- [Special.] - Yesterday, about twenty miles from here, on Noonatootly creek, in Fannin county, Bob Woody was captured and brought here last night and lodged in jail, charged with the killing of William Kimsey, in Gilmer county. Woody lives in Fannin, and was taken at his home. The killing occurred at a church house on the Blue Ridge, just after a congregation, who had been attending divine service, had been dismissed. It was in the night, and the the killing of Kimsey was accidental, Woody en-deavoring at the time to kill Webb Findley. On that evening Woody was traveling the road near the church with a wagon and yoke of oxen, and a jug of brandy, and was intoxicated. He ascertained that Findley was ahead of him going the church. He hurried up reached the church during services and went in, finding Findley there. A bad state of feeling had for some time existed between these parties. When the congregation was dismissed, and in the yard of the church, a difficulty sprang up between Woody and Findley, and both drew their weapons, Findley a thirty-two cartridge and Woody a large cap and ball Colt's navy. The shots were almost simultaneous, but it is said that the report of Woody's pistol was heard first. Kimsey, the deceased, was between them, or nearly so, and failed to get out of the way in time, and was mortally wounded in the body, the ball passing The combatants unloaded their pistols at each other. Findley was not hit, but Woody was struck on the right hand and in the shoulde In probing the wound on Kimsey the patching of the ball was found, such as is used in loading cap and ball pistols, which indicates that Woody shot him. The grand jury of this county found true bills for murder against both Woody and Findley. The latter is in the west. while the former has remained about his wild mountain home and defied arrest. A few nights ago our deputy sheriff, Pinson, with a posse, mad a raid for him upon his house and among his relations and friends in the neighborhood, but without success. As the posse came out they were fired upon from ambush, when several shots were exasserts that Woody was in the crowd, and that he recognized him. Our sheriff then authorized Edmundson to make the arrest, which he in company with his brother Bill Edmundson and one William Thomas. These waylaid Woody's house during the night and till

Banks is one of the most prosperous little coun ties in northeast Georgia. The town of Homer i one of the quietest places we have ever and the pleasure of visiting. It is nestled away in the hills of the Hudson river, and for clever, goodple it beats them all. The jail, lately uilt by Mr. M. B. McGinty, of Athens, is a model of neatness and security. The sheriff, Mr. E. D. Owens, lives in the jail, and from its outside appearance one would think that it is a nice little cottage instead of a place to keep prisoners secure. The ordinary, Mr. T. F. Hill, is one of the fixtures in Banks, and can't be beat for the office. He is clever and polite, and makes all visitors to Homer feel at home. Banks county has just cause to feel proud of her sheriff and ordinary, for they are the right men in the right place. Banks is a dry county. It has never taken a vote on the prohibition question, but the ordinary has the nerve to refuse to grant any licenses to retail whisky dealers, and it has worked a great good to the county.

Mr. Jesse Webb, of Milton county, writes: There are three brothers of us living within five miles of each other. Ages respectively: Milford Webb, 80 years old; Tolliver, 71 years, and I, Jesse, am 69. We are all living with our first wives, and children and grandchildren will number at least 265. Two of as and our wives have belonged to the Primitive Baptist church for forty-five years, while the other and his wife have belonged to the Missionary church about the same. We are living in a good healthy country, and are all to good reasonable health for people of our age. We think it is a singular case, and wish to know if there is another such a case in Georgia. As we ask for information, we would like for other papers to copy. Rome Bulletin: Yesterday morning a young man and young lady arrived on the five o'clock train from Selma and registered at the New Rome hotel as Mr. O. C. Ward and Miss Horn. At seven the same morning Rev. J. W. Lee was called in and the two were made one. Before the ceremon Ward appeared very nervous and frequently advised the minister to hasten matters. After the ceremony the newly married couple took breaktest and then went out on a shopping and sightseeing expedition, and five minutes afterward, as they entered Cantrell Bros', shoe store on Broad treet, Chief Magruder approached Mr. Ward and p'aced in his hands this te

Mr. Ward read the telegram over, and handed it back to Colonel Magruder with the remark, "It's too late; we've done got there, Eli." So they had, and Colonel Magruder turned the culprits, who had made such a close matrimonial shave, over to the tender mercies of a Bulletin reporter. It was a real nice looking couple-both neatly dressed and the young groom appeared to have plenty of money. He was twenty-five and his bride seventeen years old. He said that the only objection to the marriage was that Mr. Horn did not care to part with his daughter. The couple returned to their home at Six Mile, alaTHE RESULT IN DEKALB

EECATUR, Ga., April 1.—[Special.]—On yesterday the voters of DeKalb met at the different voting precincts to decide by ballot whether the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors should be "allowed" or "not allowed," in the county. There has probably never an election held in the where less work was done before and on the day of election. With few exceptions every voter was permitted to go to the polls and express his preference without any effort being made to change his views. In addition to this there has been and is yet, a large number of our strongest temperance men who believe that the bill under which the election was held is so imperfect that additional legislation will be necessary to fully carry out the sentiment expressed at the ballot box yesterday. Taking all things into consideration it is a most remarkable victory for prohibition, and shows beyond any question that our people are overwhelmingly opposed to the manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquor in our county. Slugger Sullivan's Adventure in the Turkish From the New York Telegram.

Sullivan dined with a party of the Thatcher, Primrose & West minstrels yesterday, acting as host. He ate heartily, so heartily in fact that he was unable to take a Russian bath, as he had promised himself. He has taken two Turkish baths since his arrival here, and as he intends to go to Europe, thought he would give every nationality a show, particularly Russia every nationality a show, particularly Russia, on account of the expected Russo-Turkish alliance and his sympathy with autocrats. His trainers objected, because the hot bath are weskening, but their protests would have gone for naught if it had not been for the dinner. The last Turkish bath the Boston bruiser took in this city was a hot one in every respect. He got hot himself, made the proprietor hot, and in fact made it hot for everybody around. After stripping he tied a horse-blanket around his massive loins and entered the steaming room. The water boiled out of him and ran on the floor in little rivulets, reflecting the lobster-like complexion of the bathing giant. He was just debating the bathing giant. He was just debating whether he was to be parboiled or stewed when an attendant looked in and asked him if he needed more steam.

"More steam? Steam, the devil!" he growled. "Shut off this thing, or I'll burst SULLIVAN DECLARES HIMSELF. The Senegambian who looked in humbly spologized and escorted him out, but declined to further attend the querulous fighter. He was consigned to the care of another dusky attendant and piaced under the shower. At the first spray Sullivan made a dash for the attendant. In trying to get out of the way the man fell assists a partly member of the stock man fell against a partly member of the stock exchange and the two went rolling on the floor. It didn't make much difference with floor. It find t make much difference with the champion bruiser whom he hit, so he hit somebody, and crash went one attendant, who came to see what was the matter, through a looking glass. Another was pitched through the cane bottom of a lounge, and Sullivan was left master of the field. He had cleaned out the house in one round.

The proprietor was staggered by what had converted and seem up, we say, to quiet the

This time a couple of attendants led him into a room and began slapping and pounding him. This was fun, thought the boxer, and he rolled over and over as the man netted his amuscular frame and accretched ane patted his muscular frame and over as the snan patted his houd back. The attendants saw he was pleased and continued the process longer than usual, until Sullivan's impetuous temper was aroused, and just for the fun of the thing he let out with his right foot and caught the larger of the waiting men on the chest, sending him against the door.

Before the other could escape he was sent specified on the floor, with a know blow and spawling on the floor, with a knee blow, and the king of prize-fighters, proud of his accom-plishments, went out into the hall to look for nore inoffensive attendants. The proprieto more inoffensive attendants. The proprietor again came up with a flag of truce in the shape of a rubber pillow and waved it at the champion from behind a hatrack. Sullivanthought it was an invitation to put on the gloves and looked around for a pair.

He found a couple of the pillows, and saying "I'll just take a crack at you for luck," proceeded to put them on. As he was looking for a place to thrust his hand a number of voices from protected places under the counter and from protected places under the counter and on top the partitions explained the use of the pillows, and Sullivan threw them down in lisgust. His ludicrous mistake, however, appealed to his good humor and he laughe good naturedly.

Emboldened by the reverberations of the Emboldened by the reverberations of the leonine grow! through the rafters the proprietor and several of the bathers came out of concealment and chatted as pleasantly as they could with quaking hearts, and then a few went on to continue their bath. One or two took the plunge, and after the fighter was assured that the water was not of the same temperature as the shown he could do to inperature as the shower, he concluded to im-merse himself, too. Following the lead of the others, he dived from the edge of the stone basin and came to the surface about ten feet distant, blowing like a perpoise and spouting like a whale. About half the water in the tank went up in one spout, and as it came down from the ceiling it raised what remained in the resorvoir into great waves. Sullivan's puffing and blowing set hese waves in motion, and they were bounding and splashing against their confines capped with foam. A regular gale was sweeping over the miniature sea, and ut of the storm.

Sullivan seemed to be paralyzed with astonishment, and fearing he would drown a dozen life preservers were thrown to him. He grasped two, and for about ten minutes the sudience was treated to a lively set to. Sullivan had never practiced wrestling much, and van had never practiced wrestling much, and knew very fittle about the catch-as-catch-can style. The spectators could not judge who was likely to win. First Sullivan would be on top, and then a life preserver, with the assistance of a wave, would throw him. He would get another grip, and then the grapplers would be separated by the interference of a wave. At last an old steamship hawser was fewer from the strength and wind them. was found, and a windlass was borrowed from an adjoining machine shop. Sullivan, still clinging to one of the life preservers, was drawn ashore very badly used up and thordrawn asnore very bandy oughly winded.

He exhibited more of the effects of his bath, yesterday, and took a good deal of exercise before dinner, in the way of walking and fighting the balls.

ATLANTA, APRIL 2, 1885.

INDICATIONS for the South Atlantic states, taken at 1 a. m.: Generally fair weather, east to south winds, lower barometer, slight change in temperature.

SPEAKER HAINES, the man who holds the reins in the Illinois legislature, is a man of surprises. His latest was a public dismissal of all the house employes yesterday, because he had heard that some one was dissatisfied with them.

PRESIDENT BARRIOS has met with an unex pected reverse. At the head of 15,000 Guatemalans, he crossed the lines of San Salvador, where he engaged the natives. After a battle extending into two days, the invaders took to their heels and ran --

M. DE FREYCINET, who has undertaken the task of putting together a cabinet in France, is batton-holing the statesmen of the republic in the wine rooms of Paris for material. No matter how good a job he puts up, the firstftime the deputies get mad, he will have SECRETARY MANNING and Pension Com missioner Black are on the hot trail of the dishonest officials who have been robbing the government. Both have issued circulars to their subordinates, which must be very unpleasant to the rascals who know that they are about to be reached.

Aspinwall has been reduced to ashes by the insurgents, and Colon has suffered a sim ilar fate. By these acts of vandalism a great quantity of American property has been destroyed. The orders under which the American war vessels are now acting, however, will likely result in the chastisement of some of the marauders.

BISMARCK, who was born on the first o April, has been a good deal more of a reality than a joke. In fact, he is a materialized about whose advent Germans will laugh all through history. He crossed the line of three score and ten yesterday, and was the recipient of gratifying compliments from princes and people.

Some republican senators are squirming because the ax has been laid at the necks of some of their favorites. To paraphrase a popular expression, they can squirm a little now and squirm all the time after a little while. It was the decree of the American people in November that the old rats should riven out of the barn.

RIEL, the northwestern rebel, who is givng the Canadian government so much trouble, is now at the head of 2,000 men, reasonably well armed, and is in a position to give the government something to do before he is suppressed. The town of Battleford has been captured and reduced to ashes, and ten of its inhabitants put to death.

It must be extremely gratifying to the dying General Grant to know that the heart felt sympathy of the whole south is with him, and that at almost every southern hearthstone his name is mentioned with reverence and his sad affliction spoken of with sorrow. What more evidence is necessary that the war is forgotten, than the fact that those who, with Lee, submitted to the arbitrament of the sword at Appomattox, now regard with a spirit of veneration, the dying chieftain to whom the south then surrendered.

P.V. DEWITT TALMAGE'S sermon published last week was on the Motherhood of God. When the publication reached Fayetteville Tennessee, it raised a great commotion among church-goers, from the fact that it was the favorite sermon of Rev. J. W. Hanner, a well known divine of the Methodis Epicopal church south, and the charge o plagairism was made against Dr. Talmage. The Brooklyn preacher, however, knocks down Hanner by producing the date and the occasion twenty-eight years ago, when he first preached the sermon, and the dates of its repetition since. It will now be in order for Hanner to explain this great coincidence of thought.

OUR NEW "NAVY."

The fact that Secretary of the Navy Whit ney has put the public on notice that offi cial courtesy will impose on the country a good large slice of Bill Chandler's policy the attitude of John Roach takes on fresh interest. Mr. Roach is now hanging around the navy department pretty much as he hung around it when his side-partners Robeson and Chandler were the nominal managere of the corrupt concern. Of course he is not so sure of his power now as he was ther, but, if all accounts are true, he is in clined to be blustery and boisterous. He has built, under contract with Bill Chandler, one of his lop-sided sea-tubs and wants the money down; and if he dosen't get the oney down he proposes to make a row is at least is the understanding. It is derstood that Secretary Whitney has to make the final payment until he satisfy himself that John Roach has carried out his contract with the government. The boat is called the Dolphin, and it is generally conceded that she resembles a dolphin as closely as she resembles a dispatch boat. We should suppose, however, that every boat built by John Roach would be a "dispatch" boat. There is no quicker way to dispatch the prople's money than to spend it on tabs built by John Roach.

The Dolphin was built under the supervision of the John Roach naval advisory board selected by Billy Chandler. This board drew the contract, made the plans and framed the specifications. This conovides that the contractor ceive his money in ten equal payments, but ten per cent of each payment is to be raserved, and, together with the last payment, withheld until the contract is fully complied with and the ship accepted.

But, according to all accounts, the Bill Chandler advisory board has violated the contract by allowing or ordering these ten per centreserves to be paid to John Roach. a matter that should be diligently inquired into, and if these unlawful payments were countenanced by the late secretary, the facts should be made known-unless, indeed, official courtesy to the illustrious Chandler should make it necessary for his democratic successor to refuse to review the record. There are some very delicate questions likely to arise before Bill Chandler's record is disposed of.

Nobedy seems to know what the Dolphin is intended for. She is called a dispatch boat, but a dispatch boat may be anything or nothing. Still, the contract entered into with John Roach is something, and, unless 'courtesy' to the distinguished Chandler should dictate otherwise, Secretary Whitney would do well to see that it is carried out in whole and in part. Among other things, the contract called for steel shafts. Steel shafts were accordingly put in, but, on the trial trip, one of them broke, and another, it is said, has been found defective. Wrought iron shafts were therefore, with the consent of the Bill Chandler advisory board, put in, and the same board sgreed that the government should pay for the useless steel shafts as well as for those substituted. The government, it will be perceived, is from the Billy Chandler point of view, is an affair to be swindled at will ---When we beg Secretary Whitney to investigate these matters and expose such rascality as may be discovered, it will readily be understood that we write in profound ignorance of the "precedents" and "usages" of the navy department. If "courtesy" to a retiring secretary demands that his successor shall refuse to review the record, on the ground that he cannot know the motives of his predecessor, then we have nothing more to say.

THE CAUSE OF CRIME.

Various correspondents are taking one of our Nashville exchanges to task for questioning the statement that the great bulk of the crime committed in this country may be traced to alcohol. But our Nashville contemporary has prison statistics on its side, as THE CONSTITUTION took occasion to show some time ago. It is true that there is nothng more debasing, and nothing more generally hurtful to the best interests of society than alcohol, but it is not true that it is the cause of most of the crimes that are committed.

The great rause of crime is neither alcohol nor the ign cance that implies a lack of the knowledge freading and writing. It is the enforced id eness that is the result of a false system of education, and the false system of education is the result of false notions in regard to the propriety of teaching boys and girls how to use their hands as well as their brains. A young man with nothing but a common school education, or even with a college education, is ill-fitted to grapple with the problems of life.

The lack of practical knowledge is a serious lack; it is a fatal lack, indeed, in those who are compelled to depend on their own resources. The great majority of the young men of this country cannot afford to go into the crowded professions. Their education renders them sensitive, and there is no worse moral wreck than that of a sensitive man out of whom bard circumstance has ground all self-respect. Every boy should be taught to use his hands, and to employ those faculies that will be called on in affairs of life.

THE New York Times in one brief sentence wipes out a legion of mendacious correspondents, when it says of New Orleans: "The people are hospitable and not on the make."

In a recent issue of the San Francisco Ingleside, a brilliant literary weekly, an entertaining writer pieasantly says: It is always agreeable to recall the old days of San Francisco society, when the athern element was almost entirely in the ascendant. Certainly we had a very charming socie-ty then. There was less formulated, but more inividual, etiquette. The men possessed more of the chivalry of good breeding, and none of the taint which club gossip has of late engendered. As for the women, they have always been beautiful, and at least three generations of beauty have swept through our dream of fair women. It will e a delightful task to discuss our old-times balls and parties some day, and the successive belles that graced them. I wonder if any one remembers, newadays, the famous McAllister hall, s score or more years ago, and how the then Miss Thorntons carried bouquets worth $50 apiece, sent them by their escorts, who were army officers."

THE "tawney mouth" of the Mississippi has cost about $50,000,000 from first to last. It is a greedy mouth and will swallow greenbacks about as rapidly as they can be printed. With all the money spent on this great stream it appears that there is now imminent danger of the deflection of the river into Bayou Atchafalaya, by which it would reach the gulf in six miles instead of 340 as at present. This would would ruin New Orleans, leaving her high and dry as an nland town, and the richest territory of Louisiana would also be permanently submerged. South of Berwick's bay the territory would be covered, while Morgan City and all the villages, vps and sugar plantations in southwestern Louisiana would be swept away. There is no loubt that the danger is near and threatening. It is confidently predicted that the entire river will go through the Atchafalaya in a very short time unless the proper works are built to prevent it. The estimate of the cost of these works is $150,000,-000. If the river turns into this new channel it will be impassable for ships, and the Mississippi will be practically without any navigable outlet

From the New York Sun. #25,000 - WANTED-DESCENDANTS OF Martha, daughter of John Laurens, in South Carolina, and their daughter Martha, married in 1756 Sir Egerton Leigh; Henry Bremar, died in Charleston & C., 1835 his sister Anna died in England, 1859. JOHN P. JAYNE, Old Claum Lawyer, 7 Murray st., New York.

Lawyer Jayne said that John Bremar and his brother, Francis Bremar, settled in London in the ast century. They were supposed to be Swedish or Norwegian noblemen. John Bremar resided at Kensington, and had a wife and children, John, Francis, Henry, Ann and Lettitia. Ann Bremar married B. Young, and they lived at Rochester, where Young died in 1844. His vidow died in 1859, intestate, leaving a large estate in money. Letitia married a Mr. Dixon, and esided in Edinburgh, where she died, it is said, vithout issue. Henry Bremer, M. D., emigrated without issue. Henry Bremer, M. D., emigrated to America, and died in Charleston, S. C., in 1835, leaving a will, making his second cousin, Miss Eliza Maria Carson, otherwise Eliott, his residuary legatee. Miss Carson, if living, or, if dead, her heirs, are entitled to a large sum of money. Francis Bremar, the brother of old John, of London, emigrated to America, settled in South Carolina, and married Martha, daughter of John Laurens, of South Carolina, and their daughter Martha in 1756 married Sir Egerton Leigh, his majesty's attorney general and majesty's attorney general, surveyor general and member of the council of South Carolina.

From the New York World. And now another monster turns out to be a myth. The notorious Abe Buzzard, who has been paraded in the newspapers as the terror of western Pennsylvania, the "Bandit King of the Welsh nountains," worse than the late Jesse or the living Frank James, proves to be a poor, dirty, lazy loafer, to whom nothing bigger than the theft of a chicken from a roost or a ham from a smokehouse can be traced. Long ago he had the honor of steal ing a horse and was caught, tried and sentenced fifteen year's imprisonment but he was permitted secape from the county jail and was not considered worth hunting for. This frightful bugaboo is found to be nothing more than a poor old brokendown begar, and the terror turns out to be a tramp, who hovers around the hen roosts and the dether in the terror turns out to be a tramp. clothes-lines, but who has not plack enough to assault a baby. What Two Warts Did,

From the Philadelphia Press. The fate of nations and men often turn on the merest trifles. It would be curious if the destiny of England and Egypt was to be materially affected by the presence of two warts on the cheek of a Khartoum ship's carpenter. In his address to the Soudanese, El Mahdi wrote: "Has not God Himself given me the signs of my mission-the two warts on the left cheek which are spoken of in His book?" This cogent reasoning would seen to warts on the left cheek which are specially warts on the left cheek which copen treasoning would seem to have had its effect, for the officers of the Kordofan army declare that the mahdi "has on his right cheek a wart and other signs which are written in the books of the law." There is, it is true, a grave discrepancy as to the position of the warts; but it might, nevertheless, have been better for the peace of the world if Monamed Ahmed had been born without any warts at all.

From the Washington Capital. I see that it is reported that Mrs. Garfield is con templating a change in her name, and hear at the same time that the managers of the Garfield hos-pital, finding that this lady takes no apparent interest in their enterprise, are thinking of changing its name also. The name of "Garfield" does not seem to have brought good fortune to a worthy and much needed charity. People naturally wonder why an institution, which was intended to be the most enduring monument to the deceased president, should receive no encouragement from Mrs. Garfield, who was given a fortune of nearly haif a willow of dollars because her husband was shot while holding the office of president. The rumor that she is to remarry seems to excite no surpris

Mary Blanche Munroe, Gazaline Munroe, Iola Munroe, Lama Munroe, John K. Munroe and Georgia Munroe, minor children of Iola Munroe, formerly lols Lamar, bring suit by their father and next friends, N. C. Munroe, George A. Thornton, Leonidas W Lamar, and Henry G. Lamar, against Mrs. Marian Blackshear, Dr. Charles H. Hall, and C. T. Ward, to recover valuable property lying on college street and Washington avenue, and in Vineville The bill recites that in 1884 Gazaway Davis, the grandfather of the plaintiffs, left by will to Gazaway Davis Lamar certain tracts of real estate, situated in the counties of Columbia and Irwin, to hold in trust for Mary Ann Lamar and her children. The mother was to have only a life interest In 1853 the trustee sold part of the lands and invested the proceeds in real estate in Macon for Mary Ann Lamar and her heirs. Mary Ann Lamar went into possession of the property and held it until she sold it to A. M. Blackshear, husband of Mrs. Marian Blackshear, and to Dr. Charles H. Hall and C. T. Ward. The bill alleges that the parties bought the property with due notice of the trust limitations, and prays that the lands and tene-ments so bought shall be recovered, and that the present owners shall be made to account for all rents since May 2d, 1882, when Mary Ann Laman

George W. Case Again in Trouble.

HE IS ARRESTED ON A PEACE WARRANT AT THE IN-STANCE OF HIS WIFE. MACON, April 1.-[Special.]-George W. Case, proprietor of a marble yard on Plum street, was arrested to-day by Bailiff Henderson on a peace warrant sworn out by the former's wife. She al leges that Case accused her of stealing a trunk key, and that when she denied it, he grew angry and used some very rough language to her. She told him that if he thought anybody was stealing from the trunk, he could lock the room containing it. She then opened the trunk and took out a piece of oil cloth which she claimed. Case said that the oil cloth was his, and after a wordy dispute, struck his wife, knocking her over against the mantle piece.

Case denics his wife's story, and says that she has repeatedly annoyed him by throwing his clothes about the house, taking the lamp from him, and pulling the cover off of him after he had gone to bed. He says that in the dispute to-day he did not strike her, but that she struck him. He deeply regrets the occurrence, and claims to have done everything possible to live amicably with his wife. The matter will go before Justice M. R. Free-man to morrow for trial.

In this connection it may not be out of place to glance over the record thus far made by the home club. There have been eleven games played. The Atlantas have scored a total of eighty-seven runs to seventy-two made by their opponents. They have lost five games, won five and played one tie. Of the five lost one was a ten-inning game. Of the last seven played, Atlanta has lost only one, one has been a tie, and five have been won. In these seven they have scored sixty runs to thirty-seven by their opponents. This is certainly a record to be proud of, especially when it is considered that it has been made by a new club which never played. been made by a new club which never played together before this season.

SUMMARY.

Baseball Dissension in Augusta. Augusta, Ga., April 1.-[Special.]-The Brown and Clinch factions of the Augusta ball club have been at war about discharging the weak players and to-day the directors proposed to engage a proiessional manager, like Atlanta, and allow him to control the club and strengthen the Augusta nine Each faction is dissatisfied with the other, and their union is like mixing oil and water. Propo sitions to buy or sell are being made from one to the other. Whatever is the outcome of this local fight, Augusta is determined to put a-strong nine in the diamond and make a warm fight for the championship.

Seen in Denver and Washington. Sr. Louis, April 1 .- The mystery surrounding the disappearance of ex-Governor Fletcher has been in a measure solved by the receipt of a telegram from an old frind of the family, A. J. Sampson, ex-attorney-general of Colorado, which stated that Covernor Fletcher had been for some days past stopping at the Windsor hotel in Denver, Col., and that he had left there on Saturday, the 28th instant, in response to an urgent business telegram.

Mrs. Fletcher has telegraphed General sampson to discover where Governor Fletcher went upon leaving Denver, what train he went out upon and all the other details necessary to discover his present whereabouts, and Mrs. Fletcher entertains no doubt that she will soon know just where her husband is. Washington, April 1.—The Star says a gentleman who is well acquainted with the missing ex-Governor Fletcher, of Missouri, states that he saw that gentleman in Washington

Pacific. New York, April 1.—It is learned from au thentic sources that the whole line of the Cen tral Pacific road and the branch north of Goshen has been lessed for a term of ninety-nine years to the Southern Pacific company, the same corporation which recently leased the line of the Sunset route between San Francisco and New Orleans. The contract takes effect April 1. The lessee agrees to resist in the request in good order and to tract takes elect April 1. The lessee agrees to maintain the property in good order and to assume all obligations in respect thereto; all taxes charges and interest on its bonded and floating debt as the same may mature. The lessee is to receive as rental the minimum sum of $1.200,000 per parts of the property of the same of $1.200,000 per parts. of $1,200,000 per annum, and so much more as the surplus earnings may justify up to the sum of $3,600,000. The latter sum is equal to 6 per cent on its present capital stock of $59,-275,000.

CANDLE WORKS ON FIRE.

The Destruction of the Emory Brothers

Establishment in Cincinnati.
Cincinnati, April 1.—The candle works Emory Brothers took fire to-day. The fire started in the eastern portion of the large structure, where the candle manufacture was carried on. Two fire walls with iron doors divided the building into three sections. The fire department succeeded in confining the flames to the eastern section, where from 100 to 150 employes were engaged, many being girls. They were thrown into a panic, but were all safely removed. The loss will reach from $80,000 to 0, with ample insur-

Artemus Ward on Forgiveness. From the San Francisco Ingleside.
I recollect a witty remark of Artemus Ward's at dinner party, when he visited this city, toward the end of the war. Among the guests at the table was an English lady of pronounced southern sym-pathies. Artemus Ward-or, as he was better known to his friends, Charlie Brown-was in the middle of a long tirade against the enemies of the union, for he was a loyal north-erner. Especially bitter was he against "those foreignes," for 'what he termed their cowardly conduct toward the union. As he. waxed more vehement the English lady grew redder and redder, and her fellow-guests glanced mischievously in her direction. Suddenly Artemischievously in her direction. Suddenly Artemas at the mass to exactly right. Glancing suspiciously at the English lady he strove to discern her nationality. He realized that she was not an American. Then, with that exquisite rafinement d'esprit which stamped his character, he leaned over and said apologetically: "Mrs. S., when I-er-spoke -cr-of foreigners-I was referring-only to-to-negroes and Chinese."

Pretty Finger-Nails.

Pretty Finger-Nails.

Trim them; polish them; scrape them; and fix them all you please; yet they never will be truly beautiful unless the circulation of the blood is healthy, and the blood itself in perfect order. Look at the finger-nails of the debilitated person who suffers from lack of nervous energy. They look waxy and lifeless. Secure rich blood and perfect circulation by using Brown's Iron Bitters. Mr. Wm. Welsh, Lexington, Mich., says, "I was reduced almost to a skeleton. I used Brown's Iron Bitters and now-weigh 170 pounds."

WAR IN PANAMA.

THE REBELS BURN AND PLUN-DER THE CITIES.

cretary Whitney Orders the Marines to Pr: coed to the Scene of Action and Reopen Communication - The Atlantic Fleet on its Way for Action, Etc.

WASHINGTON, April 1 .- The following dispatch from Commander Kane, of the Galena, has just been received by the secretary of the Davy:

"Aspinwall is in ashes, burned by the insurgents to escape capture by the government troops. The Pacific Mail dock railroad property on the north end of the island and the canal property at Crispol, are the only buildings saved. The shipping is saie. I have all my force on shore, protecting property. My ship is crowded with refugees. Thousands are destitute and without shelter." COLON ALSO DESTROYED.

New York, April 1 .- A dispatch has been received at the office of the Panama railroad company, in this city, which gives the following account of the destruction of Colon:

ing account of the destruction of Colon:

"The revolutionists have destroyed Colon by fre. The wharf of the Pacific Mail steamship company is the only one which remains standing. The shops and the property on the beach are saved, stop all freights. We need six wharf building gangs, material for the construction of wharfs, pile drivers. Charter a steamer and supply it with ample provisions to sustain the gangs while at work. Communication with Panama has been entirely cut oft."

The Action of the Cabinet,
Washington April 1.—The Aspinwall difficulty was discussed at the conference this afternoon between Secretaries Bayard and Whitney, Mr. Adee, of the state department, and Commodore Walker being present. Mr. Bayard, at the request of Mr. Whitney, defind the treaty responsibilities of the United States in this matter. Mr. Bayard then went to see the president, and late this converse information and the treaty responsibilities.

to see the president, and late this evening an informal meeting of the cabinet was held at the white house, at which the matter was fully discussed. The conclusion matter was fully discussed. The conclusion reached at this meeting was that while this government is not called upon to take cognizance of the internal broils at Pansma, yet it has by treaty gusranteed free and uninterrupted transit across the isthmus. Acting upon this conclusion, Secretary Whitney to-night telegraphed orders to the commandant of the Brooklyn navy yard to get all the available Brooklyn navy yard to get all the available marines at the yard in readiness for immediate departure, and to provide also some Gatling guns and men to handle them. He also sent the following dispatch to J. B. Houston, president of the Pacific mail company at New York:

The government proposes to have the transit rom Panama to Colon open and uninterrupted in from Panama to Colon open and uninterrupted in the shortest possible time. In order that your company may avail itself of the advantages of this action a few days delay of your steamer to receive a shipment of armed forces willbe necessa-ry. How many can you take?

Secretary Whitney has also telegraphed Captain Kane, of the Galena at Colon, and Consul Adamson, at Panama, for further information as to the condition formation as to the condition of the railroad and steamship property, and whether tranit across the Isthmus remains open. He said to night that if their replies to these dispatches confirm the present advices, men and guns from the Brooklyn navy yard will be forwarded immediately. He said further that the United States steamers Alliance and Swatara are now en route for Colon, the Alliance from Key West and the Swatara from New Orleans.

BARRIOS ROUTED.

The Salvadorian Army Pats the Gautema-LIBERTAD, April 1.—On March 30, General Barrios attacked the Salvadorian contier, position El Coco, thus breaking the promise given by him to the United States minister not to invade Salvador, and commencing operations without a declaration of war. The battle raged fiercely until nightfall, when the Salvadorian forces concentrated upon Chalchuapa. At daylight on the 31st, the fighting commenced around San Lorezzo. After a severe engagement, which lasted ten hours, the Guatamalan forces were completely routed.

Their losses were heavy.

THE BATTLES DESCRIBED.

PANAMA, via Galveston, April 1.—Communication with Colon is reopened. The force sent from here attacked Prestan on the afternoon of the 30th, and drove back the small cutposts. On the morning of the 31st the fight in the town of Colon commenced. Cannons were used and firing was heavy. While the fight was in progress, a fire, the origin of which is not known, broke out in the town. Prestan, when he saw that defeat was inevitable made his escape. Many of his men were killed or captured. The town, by this time, was in flames. Everything was swept away save a few Panama railroad buildings on the north beach. All the piers except the Pacific mail company's were burned, and all the railroad company's books were lost. The canal company saved its books and $160,000 in specie. All the cars on the tracks were destroyed. The new town of Christopher Columbus escaped the flames. The suffering is intense. No water nor food is to be had. Three cars loaded with supplies Prestan, when he saw that defeat was inevitable is to be had. Three cars loaded with supplies is to be had. Three cars loaded with supplies will leave here to-night. Many of the citizens are utterly ruined. All is quiet in Panama. Aizpura will send troope to hold Colon and prevent the expected pillage.

THE NORTHWEST WAR. Ten Citizens Killed by the Indians-The Wires Cut, WINNEPEG, Man., April 1.—A Free Press dispatch, just received at 12:30 a.m., from-Battleford, says that the Indian instructors, dispatch, just received at 12:30 a.m., from Battleford, says that the Indian instructors, James Payne and George E. Applegarth, of Eagle Hills, and two settlers, have been killed by the Stony Indians. The settlers coming in were robbed of horses, wagons and loads. Others are coming in from distant settlements in a destitute condition, and are collecting in the barracks, where all are awaiting help. They have plenty of provisions there, and can stand the siege for some time. The half-breeds are reported to be going toward Clark's crossing, to cut the telegraph wires. The wires will probably be cut, and communication from Battleford broken to-morrow. The Indians in western Manitoba, are showing signs of distrust, and will probably join the rebels.

The latest dispatch received from Battleford lest night briefly announces the killing of ten citizens, and the burning of the town.

REIL'S ARMY REINFORCED.

St. Paul, Minn., April 1.—A special to the Dispatch from Winnepeg says: All the buildings in Battleford were pillaged and burned. It is expected that Big Bear's band and the Fort Pitt Indians will also join the rebellion. Big Bear, with 800 warriors, is with Riel, who is now said to have 2,000 armed men, but no field pieces. It is not known when General Middleton will order the troops to advance. to advance.

TROOPS ORDERED OUT. TORONTO, Ont. April 1 —This afternoon Colonel Denison, deputy adjutant general, ordered out the govornor general's bodyguard for immediate active service. They will parade to morrow at the Old Fort.

Messrs. Nunnally & Rawson, who had a lively wrestle with the flames day before yesterday, are making a good showing for business. They have begun the manufacture of plain and fancy candies at their wholesale place on Broad street, and to-day will begin the making of bread at the Whitehall street stend. Mr. Nunnally said yesterday:

"We have a big lot of dolls, toys and such goods, slightly damaged, that we are going to almost give away. We are offaring the goods at slaughter prices."

The restaurant was burned out and is closed up. Mr. F. M. Jack's department is not hurt much and is in full operation.

These gentlemen show true Atlanta pluck in getting down to business at such a lively rate. The Damage By the Fire,

DIED OF HEART DISEASE.

Thomas W. French Dies While at the Sup-Thomas W. French Dies While at the Supper Table Last Night.

Thomas W. French, whose home is on Hillyard street, died while sitting at his supper table last night.

Mr. French was a carpenter by trade and was about forty-five years of age. He has not been working for some time past on account of bad nealth. He has not been confined to his home however, and account of bad nealth. He has not been confined to his home, however, and came down town yesterday afternoon for some medicine. He returned to his home about 4 o'clock, complaining considerably. He laid down and took a nap, but got up when supper was announced. He ate a hearty meal and then, pushing back his chair, started to rise. Just as he began to assume an erect position he suddenly fell forward and sank to the floor. In filling his head struck the table. His wife and son were at the table with him and quickly raised him from the floor. A messenger was sent for a physician and Dr. Moore responded. He found Mr. French dead and stated that his death was due to heart disease.

Two Men Drop Dead. Wesley Dennis, a young colored man, dropped dead last night about eleven o'clock, on Houston street. Dennis was going from the city to his home on College street, and dropped dead when near the corner of Collins and Houston streets. He died on the sidewalk. Patrolman Hawley responded to the call, and had the body removed to the dead man's house. Coroner Haynes will hold an inquest to-day. About one o'clock this morning a message by telephone reached police headquarters telling of the sudden death of a white man named Donehoe who lived at 101 Ivy street. The man's death is said to be due to heart disease. He was walking across the floor when he dropped over dead.

Seath of Prof. J. H. Logan. (At Atlanta, Ga., March 29th; 1885) Last Sabbath, whilst Sunday-school teachers all over the broad land, were asking the question of their classes in the language of Paul addressed to Agrippa, "Is it a thing incredible with you, that God should raise the dead?" a dying Christian was answering it with his last gasp. "No," said Prof. J. H. Logan, "it is not incredible; it is true!" "I solemnly state to you," said he to the friends who were reminding him of the promises of Christ, 'that those things are true! I know it!" And in entire consciousness, with clear intellect and perception, and a bright, happy soul he sank back and expired. THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movemen in Grain and Produce.

By telegraph to The Constitution. CHICAGO, April 1-There was a fair degree o activity in all the markets on 'change to-day with the leading interest in wheat. There were signs of weakness at the opening, due to the peaceful tenor of foreign dispatches and the marked firmness in consols, which was also supplemented by an easy feeling in foreign grain markets. There was a decrease in the amount of grain, which was ised as a bull argument and throughout the session bad crop reports continued to come in from a southwesterly point, numbers of which were very discouraging in tone. The market opened %c lower but advanced steadily %c, broke off %c and closed %c higher than yesterday.

Trading in corn was only fair, but the market med steady and closed a shade better than yester-

There were no features of any interest in the oats market, closing without material change. There was a fairly active trade in provisions, and the market for both pork and lard was firmer with prices higher than yesterday.

At the afternoon session, under the influence of colder weather and a report that war-like prepara-tions were going iorward steadily in England on an extensive scale, a boom in wheat was started. the market selling up 1c over the 1 o'clock close.

The other markets were also firmer.

Special to S. H. and nelsn.

CHICAGO, April 1.—Wheat ruled special to S. H. CHICAGO, April 1.—Wheat ruled specific digital in the market recovered slightly from yesterday's decline. Considerable covering the state of the covering daubtil whather was done by parties who were doubtful whether the conference between Russia and England would result peacefully. Excepting this, the outlook is not bullish, but as there is a possibility that the elations may be again disturbed on short notice, we favor taking profits on short sales at this juncture and awaiting an opportunity to put out igher. The weather is fine and receipts from the Corn quiet and steady. Receipts large and exected to continue so. Shipping demand fair. Speculation very quiet.

Provisions stronger, and the advance fairly sustained. There has been considerable export trade in meats and lard the last two days.

Later—Wheat is stronger and consols lower. It s rumored that Russia refuses any concessions. Estimates for to-morrow: 80 cars wheat, 330 cars corn, 80 cars oats, 16,000 hogs. On the curb May day but did not come. This afternoon there are rumors less pacific, but excepting at the opening there was more disposition to buy than to sell wheat. The crop reports are the worst received in years, and with wars and rumors of wars the world ver, it would seem poor judgemeni to sell any. hing short, but rather good sense to buy moder ately all that can be taken care of . May wheat Corn steady and firm, with good receipts, but a responding good demand for all offered closing at 413/4. There are no accumulations, and stocks will soon be altogether in the farmers' hands. Provisions firmer, with a good chance for a rally.

A Maine Editor Says the Plumed Knight is Pluming for Another Race.

Mr. John M. Adams, editor and proprietor of the Portland Argus, was in the city yesterday. A Constitution man had quite an interesting conversation with him. Mr. Adams is the man sgainst whom Blaine entered a suit some years ago for publishing the same matter that the Indianapolis Sentinel republished during the recent presidential campaign. The suit was compromised by Mr. Adams because his former law partner, who was also co-proprietor of the Argus, was then a Adams because his former law partner, who was also co-proprietor of the Argus, was then a judge, and it was not desired to embarrass him by drawing his name into the suit. The civil suit was settled by Mr. Adams publishing a statement that he had never known anything in Mr. Blaine's career that would prevent his social recognition. As soon as the civil suit was withdrawn Mr. Blaine had Mr. Adams indicted for criminal libel. Mr. Adams surprised everybody by appearhad Mr. Adams indicted for criminal libel.
Mr. Adams surprised everybody by appearing in court and demanding a trial. It was his intention to put Mr. Blaine's sister on the stand and prove the truth of his publications by her. The prosecuting attorney announced that he was not ready and the case was continued. Before the next session of the court Blaine had the case nolle prossed. When Blaine entered his suit sgainst the Sentinel lest year, Mr. Adams telegraphed the publishers of that paper that it would never come to trial, and after the election the suit was distrial, and after the election the suit was dis-Mr. Adams says Blaine is training for the next presidential race.

"Do you really think he is not satisfied with the drubbing?"

"No, sir. He is the head of the republican "No, sir. He is the head of the republican machine, and you may expect to see him put in for the head of the ticket next time. There are many reasons why I think he will run. He is working busily, and his friends will argue that in New York he polled a larger vote than any republican over polled before. He is complimenting Cleveland and is getting some of his friends to compliment him in the hope that Cleveland will do something that will drive off a part of his democratic constituency."

"Will he defeat Cleveland?"

"Of course not. If Cleveland gives us a good administration, and I think he will, I ex good administration, and I think he will, I expect to see him renominated and re-elected.'

"How was Blaine's defeat taken in Maine?"
"The young men were delighted ever his defeat. They were against him. They could see no chance for a young man to rise until they could get rid of Blaine and his methods. Blaine believe- in the power of money against the peeple. Before an election he counts noses, and his idea is to buy the necessary votes from the class that sells votes."

"How does prohibition work in Maine?"
"I have lived in prohibition Maine for thirty years. Neal Dow lives there. Certainly the law ought to be enforced there if snywhere. The rumsellers violate the law worse now than ever, and they have violated it for thirty years. A man who wants liquor een get it. In some places it is sold on the sly, and in others it is sold openly. In the rural districts it is difficult to get whish In the rural districts it is difficult to get whisky and there the law has a good effect. A great many young men drink, some of them to excess. In each town a man is appointed by the state to sell whisky for medicinal pur-pose, but these men are not careful to sell for medicinal purposes only. The rumsellers say they prefer occasional fines to high license, and thus the matter goes."

The board of police commissioners convened again yesterday at 12 o'clock, and began the econd day's fight.

The board was called to order by Commissioner Stephens, chairman pro tem. Every member was present, and each wore a dignified look, indicating that he had not receded from the position occupied day before yester. day when the board adjourned. Commissioner English opened business by moving that the cemetery guards be required to divide the time, and go on and off duty at the same time as the regular police force. The motion was not discussed, but prevailed. Commissioner Fox handed the secretary a letter, asking him to read it. The letter was written by Commissioner Fox. It recited the fact that he regretted that the board has gotten into the muddle, and that he was willing to do what he could to extricate it, but he could not and

WOULD NOT VOTE FOR E. F. COUCH for captain. He said that if the board could compromise on some man he was willing to

"I would like to say," said Commissioner English, when the letter had been read, "that I have been told that the excitement incident to the heated discussion of yesterday has produced an unfavorable change in Commissioner Fox's condition. I want to disclaim any responsibility for that change. I am not responsible for it, but on the contrary I think the men who drew Commissioner Fox into the combination, are responsible for his condition. Had they not formed the combination of which he was a next the excitorant. tion of which he was a part, the excitement over a warm discussion would not have oc-curred, as the discussion would not have ensued. I fear that a further excitement will produce another unfavorable change, and decline to have a hand in the discussion on that account. I se that you three gentlemen are determined to carry out your programme of yesterday, and I will leave the entire question to you."

"I see no use in my voting," said Commissioner Goldsmith. "You have the majority, and can elect the captains. If you will nom-inate your candidates, and vote for four at a time, I may join you.' A COMBINATION BY TWO.

"Let me see you, doctor," said Commissioner English, addressing Commissioner Goldsmith, and the two gentlemen retired to one corner of the room where they held a whispered consultation. Returning to the table Commissioner English said:

"I have no objection to helping in this election if the three gentlemen, will secont Commissioner English said:

"You want to do the fair thing," said Commissioner Fordiah "aupnose you substitute missioner English, "suppose you substitute Mr. Buchanan for Moon or Russell. I don't care which. That ticket is the one you had yesterday. Show that you are liberal as yeu claim, that there is no combination, and give some one a chance. Say you make the ticket Crim, Manley, Moon and Buchanan. What eay you?"
"Ur roue. He's a good man," said Commissioner Goldsmith.
"Or T. W. Mercer," said Commissioner

English. "These four men suit me," said Commissioner Fox, holding up his ticket with Crim, Manley, Moon and Russell on it.

"Then go on and elect them. There's no use in a further discussion," said Commissioner Goldsmith, for the first time losing his temper. "Well, gentlemen," said Commissioner English, "I have done all I can to prevent you three from putting a packed ticket on the people. Now go shead, I shall not vote for any man for captain until you assure me that the agreement you have made is null and void. I will vote for anything but

You all seem wedded to these four men. Go ahead and elect them. I thought Commissioner Fox's letter meant something, but I see that it does not. Go ahead; but before you do, I want to protest against this wrong. You are not carrying out your oaths. You have a ma-jority—go on."

"I believe we are all agreed on the nomination of Captain Crim," said Commissioner Ste-phens' "let's yote on hi—"

"I withdraw from the election altogether," said Commissioner English.

"And I too," said Commissioner Goldsmith.

"Let us vote for four at a time," said Commissioner Jones. "There are two tickets. There is Crim, Manley, Moon and Russell. There is Crim, Manley Moon and Buchanan." Commissioner Stephens called the roll.

"Commissioner English, how do you vote?" he asked.

"I decline to vote," was the response, "and protest against this farce."
"Commissioner Jones?" asked Commissioner

Stephens. "I vote for Crim, Manley, Moon and Russell," was the answer.
"Commissioner Goldsmith?"
"I decline to vote, too."

"Commissioner Fox?"
"I vote for Crim, Manley, Moon and Rus-"And I do too," said Commissioner

Stephens, "and that elects them." "Who do you want for stationhouse keepers?" asked Commissioner Stephens.
"I nominate J. F. Buchanan and T. A. Ryan," said Commissioner Fox.
"And I nominate J. F. Buchanan and W. F. Eoute." said Commissioner Fredish.

"And I nominate J. F. Duchanan and T. E. Foute," said Commissioner English.
"I would like to know what Chief Connolly thinks of Fotte," said Commissioner Jones.
"I have heard he was not qualified."

The chief arcse to give his opinion, but before he could begin Commissioner English said:

'Ob, no you don't. That ain't fair. Dr. Foute was recently a candidate for chief against Captain Connolly and then Mr. Ryan is his brother-in-law. That would hardly be

Chief Connolly's face turned red and he sat

The roll was then called. Commissioners Jones, Stephens and Fox voted for Ryan and Buchsnan, and Commissioners English and Goldsmith voted for Buchsnan and Foute.
Just before the result was announced Commissioner English arose and said:
"I desire to change my vote in move a reconsideration."

The reconsideration prevailed.

Commissioner English then said he could not vote, as the ticket was a part of the cut T. J. McWilliams was unanimously elected

T. J. McWilliams was unanimously elected sergeant. Commissioner Fox then nominated E. F. Couch for first supernumerary.

"Oh, he is a regular member," said Commissioner Goldsmith.

"Glad of that," said Commissioner Fox.

"Yes, he is not a fit man to be a captain, but he is to be a patrolman," said Commissioner English in a sarcastic tone.

"Maybe he wants another pair of boots," said Commissioner Jones.

said Commissioner Jones.

"And maybe Chairman Fox wants to dismiss the warrants again," said Commissioner English. Commissioner Fox was excused from further itendance. The board then added the folattendance. The soard then added the following supernumaries:

"Go ahead, I won't vote for 'em," said Commissioner English.

"Nor I," said Commissioner Goldsmith. "Its two and two." The matter was disposed of by detailing Buchanan and Ryan until successors are elected.

"I'LL MAKE YOU A GOOD PATROLMAN."

Just as the board was adjourning Captain Couch entered the chamber. He had heard that he was defeated. He was carrying his shield in his hand and, advancing toward

Captain English, he said:

"Here is your shield. I surrender it as bright as it was when I got it. I made you a good policeman for four years, and made you a good captain for three years. After the election Dr. Fox said: "I hated to do it. I never hated to vote against any one half as much as I did to vote against Couch, but I couldn't help it. He is a good policeman and a good captain. If a vacancy occurs I'll help to put him there."

SWORN IN.

The entire police force was sworn in at five o'clock in the evening by Chairman Protem Stephens. First, Chief Connolly, next and at one time, Captains Crim, Manley, Moon and Russell, next, the stationhouse keepers and sergeants, then the patrolmen in squads of ten at a time, after which Mr. Stephens delivered a short but well timed address to the torce. He referred to the illness of Dr. Fox, the chairman of the board, as the reason why the chairman pro tem was called upon to swear in the men. He referred to the fact that the successful men had been selected from a list of 250, and urged them to guard well the important trusts committed to their care. Among other things, Mr. Stephens said: "It is expected of you to know and watch the lawless and the vagrants of this city. The vagrant of to-day will be, in all probability, the burglar or common thief of the near future. It is your or common thief of the near future. It is your business to watch for and, if possible, suppress vagrancy; also to search for, locate and report to your superior officers all haunts of crime or other places where any of the laws or ordinances of the city are being violated."

Mr.Stephens addressed a few remarks to the different departments of the force, calling on each to sustain itself, and urging the chief to do all in his power to make Atlanta a city famous for its good police force. The address was a model in its temper and in its words of sound sense and good advice, and was well calculated to stimulate the men to do all in their power to give the city such police protection as she give the city such police protection as she

For Military Drills at Mobile and New Or-leans—The Gate City Guard Going. POLITICAL DISABILITIES, STAND IN THE WAY, A List of Nominations Confirmed and Others Not Acted Upon-Senatar Call, of Florids, Rises to a Personal Explanation-The Final Adjournment of the Body Resched.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The last message received by the senate from the president was as follows: To the Senate of the United States: To the Senate of the United States:

I hereby withdraw the nomination, which was delivered to the senate on March 30th, 1885, of Alexander R. Lawton, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States and minister plenipotentiary of the United States. GROVER CLEVELAND.

to Russia. GROVER CLEVI Considerable discussion took place over the nomination of Alexander R. Lawton to be minister to Russia. The committee of foreign relations had reported it adversely, the major ity being of the opinion that although General Lawton had received full pardon and amnesty from President Johnson in February, 1867, yet, by the 14th amendment to the constitution, he was ineligible, because his political disabilities had not been removed by congrees. The committee reported this as the only objection to the confirmation of General Lawton. In the senate it was contended by some of Lawton's friends that the form of oath prescribed and taken by him when he entered the mili. tary service of the United States did not include the requirement to "support the constitution," and that, therefore, he did not incur political disabilities by engaging in the rebellion, and dods not, therefore, require any act of congress to enable him to hold the position of minister. During the discussion a message was received from the president asking that action be suspended, and later, the nomination was withdrawn. This action was taken on account of the committee's adverse report, the administration being of opinion that President Johnson's pardon rendered General

Lawton eligible. GEN. LAWTON INTERVIEWED. The History of the Objections Which Have

Been Raised Against Rim. SAVANNAH, Ga., April 2 .- [Special.] -The news that the nomination of General A. R. Lawton as minister to Russia had been withdrawn from the senate, because it was claimed by some of the senators that his political disabilities had not been removed, was the occasion of considerable surprise. No one doubted but General Lawton's nomination would be promptly confirmed, and as the people of Savannah have so long looked upon the war as a thing of the past, nobody had thought about the question of political disabilities. A reporter called upon the general to obtain is views on the unlooked for turn his nomiin had taken, and found him quietly on-ring bifficelf at his home on Perry street.

He said the first intimation he had that the estion would or could be raised in the senate when his nomination by the president came up for consideration, was a telegram from Senators Brown and Colquitt Wednesday evening. The telegram stated that it had been claimed that his political disabilities had not been removed, and that he could not therefore hold the office.

"Is it true that your political disabilities hen, have never been removed?" inquir the reporter. The general replied that they had been. He said in substance that in February, 1867, he received a free and unconditional pardon from President Johnson. After this pardon had been granted the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States was passed, which provides that political disabilities must be removed by a two-thirds vote of congress. It is now claimed that the fourteenth amendment annulled the pardon, and as his disabilities never been removed by act of congress the general is not now eligible to the office for which he has been nominated, he having held state and national offices before the war.

After receiving the telegram from the Georgia senators stating that this question had been raised, he received another from Senator Brown, stating that a majority of the republican senators and some democratic senators thought he was not eligible. General Lawton appeared to regard this as a strange proposition of law, but said he would not express a legal opinion of the subject because he is personally interested. He showed the reporter several dispatches he had eceived from leading members of the bar in Washington and elsewhere, who are his personal friends, all of them expressing the opin ion that his pardon, being granted before the fourteenth amendment was passed, covered the ground, and that no act of congress is necessary in his case. They all hold that it has long been settled that the president has full and complete power to pardon, and that General Lawton's pardon could not be affected by a constitutiona amendment passed after the pardon was granted. The general said that other nominations that have been confirmed are in the seme condition, and appeared to think it strange that his case should be singled out when others had passed without objection He said he would have been satisfied to have Lad his case brought to a vote in the senat and decided this session, but he did not want to do anything to embarrass the president. He did not know what action will now be taken, and would leave the matter in the bands of the president and secretary of state. As the senate has adjourned nothing can be done until next December. His name can then be sent in again if the president desires to do so,

General Lawton does not contemplate going Washington now, but when next there o siness will call on the president and Secre lary Bayard and thank them personally for the for they conferred on him.
